

An aerial photograph of a dense, lush green forest. A dirt road or path winds through the trees, visible on the right side of the image. The forest is composed of various types of trees, including tall, thin trunks and dense foliage. The overall scene is vibrant and natural.

EXPERIENCES GAINED AND THE WAY FORWARD AUDITOR PERSPECTIVE

S.K.Yap
SK Yap Forestry and Landscape Advisory Services

THE STANDARD

MC & I

MC & I (2002)

MC & I (NATURAL FOREST)

MC & I (FOREST PLANTATIONS)

MC & I (FOREST PLANTATION) VERSION

2

A photograph showing a landslide on a dirt road. Two white pickup trucks are parked on the road, with several people standing around them. The ground is covered in reddish-brown soil and debris, including large logs. The background shows a steep, eroded hillside with some vegetation.

Perception at the Beginning

Compulsion

Fear and resistance

Cost and extra work

No benefits

The learning
curve

The FMU management team

The audit team

The stakeholders

Regulatory agencies

The way forward

The way forward

MTCC

Improving the understanding of the specifications and requirements stated in the Standard

The way forward

The FMU management

- Understanding the Principles, Criteria and Indicators
- Designated persons to lead the certification team
- Top management commitment
- Resources
- Willingness to be transparent in the FMU management

The way forward

Other parties

NGOs

Trade associations

Regulatory agencies

Research institutions

Certification Bodies

23.04.2013 15:38

More FMUs certified

